(Second of Five Articles)

Washington, March 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill discussed another "Big Three" conference at their meeting at Quebec last September. Shortly afterward, plans for the Yalta conference were set in motion.

Difficulties arose. Marshal Stalin insisted he couldn't leave Russia. Mr. Roosevelt had to take care of his fourth term campaign.

But on January 22, two days after his inauguration, the President took a train to an east coast port, boarded a cruiser and set a roundabout course for the Mediterranean. Seas were heavy for a few days.

Relays of planes, blimps, cruisers and destroyers served as an escort. Once a German submarine sent out a fake SOS, attempting to lure Allied vessels into torpedo range. Another time a periscope was reported sighted. Destroyers leaped to the spot. False alarm.

A neutral Portuguese merchantman ploughed defiantly through life formation.

Anna Solves Crisis
The President's daughter, Anna—Mrs. John Boettiger—accompanied him to Yalta.

The President spent his 63rd birthday aboard ship. The day produced a minor crisis, solved by Mrs. Boettiger.

Mr. Roosevelt's chefs had baked a fancy birthday cake. So had the cooks for the officers mess. It looked as though one bunch of cooks was going to be disappointed until Mrs. Boettiger hit on an idea—three more cakes in different sizes.

All five were stacked up in tiers. Four were labeled: First term, second, third and fourth. On the fifth was a tremendous question mark.

The Chief Executive broke the trip with a stop at Malta February 2 for a conference with Churchill on European and Pacific military matters. A story made the rounds that Stalin heard about it and sent them a message: "I said Yalta, not Malta."

The first session at Yalta got under way with Stalin uttering the Russian equivalent of "Let's get going."

In general, Stalin—as head of Russia's armed forces—ran the war in the morning and sat in on the conference in the afternoon. He sat on the President's right, Churchill on the left, each a third of the way around the huge round table. Top advisers and interpreters sat in between, the total reaching 20 at times.

Churchill was most insistent on offering France a zone of occupation in Germany and membership on the Allied Control Commission in Berlin. Britain wants a strong France between her and Germany.

Sometimes one of the leaders wanted to "sleep on" a decision—like Stalin when the proposal for voting by members of the proposed International Security Council came up.

This formula, worked out by the President in line with a British suggestion, provides: (1) That a council member cannot vote on anything having to do with investigating a dispute to which it is a party, or making recommendations for peacefully settling it, but (2) when it comes to application of force or sanctions, the vote of all five permanent members—United States, Britain, Russia, China and France—is required.

Stalin Accepts Plan
The theory is that if force appears necessary against one of the major powers, the whole machinery probably will collapse and there will be war anyway.

The substance of this plan was submitted to the Russians last December. Stalin, however, seemed unfamiliar with it.

But he considered it overnight, next day said: "I'll take it."

In effect there were two conferences at Yalta—one military, the other political. When major military decisions were reached by the chiefs of staff they were laid before the Big Three. Naturally these military agreements will become known only upon their execution.

Political decisions were arrived at in about this order:

1. How Germany should be occupied and controlled.

2. International security organization to be set up in San Francisco.

3. Polish territorial and governmental changes.

4. Declaration on liberated Europe.

5. Recommendations for new government for Yugoslavia.

6. Big Three foreign secretaries to hold quarterly meetings. Agreement on what to do with (Please Turn to Page 3)

That announcement was made Tuesday by Dr. Harvey D. Hoover, member of the faculty of the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological seminary and vice president of the camp's board of directors, following a recent meeting of the board.

Doctor Hoh, an alumnus of Muhlenberg college and Mt. Airy Lutheran seminary, has been promised a three-month leave of absence from his pastoral duties at Emmanuel Lutheran church in Lancaster so that he may devote his full time to the leadership camp during the coming season.

A former student at Delone Catholic High School, McSherrystown, Pa., Sergeant Chrismer was employed by the Newport News (Va.) ### EX-SUPERVISOR RESIGNS RELIEF BOARD POSITION

Mrs. Rosalie C. Raffensperger, Arendtsville, resigned Tuesday evening as senior visitor for the local office of the Pennsylvania Public Assistance board at regular monthly board meeting held at the office on North Washington street.

The board accepted "with regret" Mrs. Raffensperger's resignation. Mrs. Raffensperger has been serving in assistance work in the county since 1933 when she first directed the local emergency relief program. After two years in that position she went with the mother's assistance program with which she worked until 1938 when all of the assistance agencies were consolidated.

After the consolidation she served as county supervisor until October 1, 1943, and from that date she has been in the field service. The 12-year period she was engaged in assistance work. Mrs. Raffensperger had only one prolonged absence from duty. That was a one-year leave of absence for illness after she was severely burned in an explosion several years ago at her home.

Has No Plans

The board said today no steps had been taken to secure a replacement for Mrs. Raffensperger's position. Chairman M. Stuart Danner presided at the board meeting with members Harold H. Reuning, Mrs. Rasmus S. Saby and J. Hayes Beard in attendance. Mrs. Raffensperger said today she has no business plans for the immediate future.

With the exception of Mrs. Raffensperger's resignation, chiefly routine business was handled and general discussions were held on board policy. A report by Mrs. Verma O. Myers, board secretary, showed that the present case load of the local board was six less than a year ago. The present total was given as 667 as compared with 673 on the comparable date in 1944.

The breakdown of the various types of assistance for the two years, with 1945 being given first, was as follows: Old-age pensions, 445; blind pensions, 78; 74; aid to dependent children, 80, 93, and general assistance 58 and 63 for last year.

The next meeting will be held April 10.

JOSEPH E. SMITH NAMED TO VETS' FARM LOAN UNIT

Joseph E. Smith, Gettysburg, has just been appointed as the fourth member of the Adams county Veterans' Agricultural Loan Certifying committee which will certify to the Veterans' Administration all applications for agricultural loan guarantees under Title III of Servicemen's Readjustment Act, the so-called GI Bill of Rights.

Weaver, Gettysburg R. 4; and Felix J. Klunk, Hanover R. 4. This four-man committee will cooperate with the Farm Security Administration supervisor, Clarence A. Myers, who will serve as secretary of the committee.

Mr. Myers said that his instructions state that the certifying committee serves only as a "recommending body," and that the actual administration of the GI Bill remains in the hands of the veteran who desires to secure the benefits of the agriculture provisions of the act. He must take several steps before his application comes before the certifying committee.

Explains Procedure

"First and most important step," he said, "which a veteran must take is to locate the property which he desires to purchase and find a lender who will supply the needed credit. The county Advisory committee, sponsored by the Extension Service and now being organized locally by the county agent, M. T. Hartman, will know of available farms and will be able to suggest credit sources and give the veteran much valuable information.

AWAIT COUNTY REPORTS IN R.C. FUND CAMPAIGN

A $200 contribution from the Gettysburg Lodge No. 1526, Loyal Order of Moose headed the list of gifts that pushed the Adams county 1945 American Red Cross War Fund over the $8,000 mark today.

A total of $8,202.02 was reported as having been collected at the chapter offices by this morning. The collections to date, however, are more than $1,300 ahead of the comparable date in the 1944 campaign.

The fourteenth day's report for last year showed that less than $8,900 had been turned in to the chapter offices by that time. Chapter officials said today that there have been no major reports turned in so far from any of the outlying county districts. A total of $15,000 or more is expected to be contributed in the north, east, south and western portions of the county. Practically all of the donations recorded to date have been from Gettysburg and vicinity.

Await County Reports

The officials said that the reports due the remainder of the week from the Littlestown, McSherrystown, Arendtsville, New Oxford, East Berlin, Fairfield, Cashtown, Abbotstown, Idaville and other districts are expected to swell the total near or over the $28,000 goal.

In addition to the $200 gift from the Moose, three $25 donations were received. They were from Dr. and Mrs. Walter S. Mountain, Minter's store and an anonymous giver. Twenty-dollar gifts were made by Dr. C. N. Gitt and the Little Thursday club and eight $15 contributions were received.

They were from R. B. Kitzmiller, Mrs. R. B. Kitzmiller, O. H. Benson, The Tuesday Bridge club, M. A. Hartley and company, J. Milton Bender, Major and Mrs. Paul Hayne and the Gettysburg Motor Sales.

Nazis Claim Bomb Hits On Rhine Bridges; Third Lunges On; Reds Gain

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

(Associated Press War Editor)

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First Army has captured Honnef, five miles north of Remagen, solidly anchoring its bridgehead line, and the Germans claimed today that Nazi planes had scored direct hits on the Ludendorff bridge and the hastily thrown pontoon bridge nearby.

The Third Army of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton lunged south and east of Saarburg on the flank of the great industrial Saar basin. The Germans said this attack, below the Moselle had thrust into the depth of the main Nazi defense line. Berlin said the battle, preceded by an hour-long barrage, raged into its 25th hour east of Saarburg along the Ruwer river, a Moselle tributary.

The First Army's Ludendorff bridge still was reported in operation this morning. Front dispatches said the double-track 1,200-foot span had been reported hit numerous times, but was repaired quickly. Pontoon bridges usually are quickly mended.

Five-pronged Air Assault

Allied bombers smashed at Germany from the west and south, following last night's five-pronged RAF assault at targets all the way from the western front to Berlin. The capital was hit for the 22nd straight night.

A London report from Moscow said Soviet troops had broken through a main German line in Berlin's forefield on an 18-mile front between captured Kuestrin and Frankfurt, but the Germans said attacks west of the Oder and north of Frankfurt had broken down. The German command in Berlin ordered the Reich capital defended above and under ground to the last bullet. Bitter fighting was reported all the way along the Oder from Stettin south to the Neisse river.

The Germans also told of a fresh and powerful Soviet assault in East Prussia aimed at wiping out the Nazis there.

Mrs. Raffensperger has been serving in assistance work in the county since 1933 when she first directed the local emergency relief program. After two years in that position she went with the mother's assistance program with which she worked until 1938 when all of the assistance agencies were consolidated.

After the consolidation she served as county supervisor until October 1, 1943, and from that date she has been in the field service. The 12-year period she was engaged in assistance work. Mrs. Raffensperger had only one prolonged absence from duty. That was a one-year leave of absence for illness after she was severely burned in an explosion several years ago at her home.

Has No Plans

The board said today no steps had been taken to secure a replacement for Mrs. Raffensperger's position. Chairman M. Stuart Danner presided at the board meeting with members Harold H. Reuning, Mrs. Rasmus S. Saby and J. Hayes Beard in attendance. Mrs. Raffensperger said today she has no business plans for the immediate future.

With the exception of Mrs. Raffensperger's resignation, chiefly routine business was handled and general discussions were held on board policy. A report by Mrs. Verma O. Myers, board secretary, showed that the present case load of the local board was six less than a year ago. The present total was given as 667 as compared with 673 on the comparable date in 1944.

The breakdown of the various types of assistance for the two years, with 1945 being given first, was as follows: Old-age pensions, 445, 443; blind pensions, 78, 74; aid to dependent children, 80, 93; and general assistance 59 and 63 for last year.

The next meeting will be held April 10.

JOSEPH E. SMITH NAMED TO VETS' FARM LOAN UNIT

Joseph E. Smith, Gettysburg, has just been appointed as the fourth member of the Adams county Veterans' Agricultural Loan Certifying committee which will certify to the Veterans' Administration all applications for agricultural loan guarantees under Title III of Servicemen's Readjustment Act, the so-called GI Bill of Rights.

Mr. Smith, who is a veteran of World War I, is an electrical contractor. He is service officer of the local American Legion post. Serving with Mr. Smith are O. H. Benson, Gettysburg R. 5; Edgar W. Weaver, Gettysburg R. 4; and Felix J. Klunk, Hanover R. 4. This four-man committee will cooperate with the Farm Security Administration supervisor, Clarence A. Myers, who will serve as secretary of the committee.

Mr. Myers said that his instructions state that the certifying committee serves only as a "recommending body," and that the actual administration of the GI Bill remains in the hands of the veteran who desires to secure the benefits of the agricultural provisions of the act. He must take several steps before his application comes before the certifying committee.

Explains Procedure

"First and most important step," he said, "which a veteran must take is to locate the property which he desires to purchase and find a lender who will supply the needed credit. The county Advisory committee, sponsored by the Extension Service and now being organized locally by the county agent, M. T. Hartman, will know of available farms and will be able to suggest credit sources and give the veteran much valuable information."

"The lender and the veteran sign an application for a loan guarantee, and send it to the Veterans' Administration to determine the (Please Turn to Page 2)

AWAIT COUNTY REPORTS IN R.C. FUND CAMPAIGN

A $200 contribution from the Gettysburg Lodge No. 1526, Loyal Order of Moose headed the list of gifts that pushed the Adams county 1945 American Red Cross War Fund over the $8,000 mark today.

A total of $8,202.02 was reported as having been collected at the chapter offices by this morning. The collections to date, however, are more than $1,300 ahead of the comparable date in the 1944 campaign.

The fourteenth day's report for last year showed that less than $6,900 had been turned in to the chapter offices by that time. Chapter officials said today that there have been no major reports turned in so far from any of the outlying county districts. A total of $15,000 or more is expected to be contributed in the north, east, south and western portions of the county. Practically all of the donations recorded to date have been from Gettysburg and vicinity.

Await County Reports

The officials said that the reports due the remainder of the week from the Littlestown, McSherrystown, Arendtsville, New Oxford, East Berlin, Fairfield, Cashtown, Abbottstown, Idaville and other districts are expected to swell the total near or over the $28,000 goal.

In addition to the $200 gift from the Moose, three $25 donations were received. They were from Dr. and Mrs. Walter S. Mountain, Minter's store and an anonymous giver. Twenty-dollar gifts were made by Dr. C. N. Gitt and the Little Thursday club and eight $15 contributions were received.

They were from R. B. Kitzmiller, Mrs. R. B. Kitzmiller, O. H. Benson, The Tuesday Bridge club, M. A. Hartley and company, J. Milton Bender, Major and Mrs. Paul Hayne and the Gettysburg Motor Sales.

Resistance Stiffens On Mindanao; U.S. Gains On Luzon

Manila, March 14 (AP)—Resistance was stiffening on southwestern Mindanao, headquarters reported today, as tank-paced Yanks of the 41st Infantry Division pursued the retreating Japanese defenders into the mountains north of captured Zamboanga.

On Luzon, meantime, mechanized American spearheads drove deeply into the vast area south of Manila, seizing three main towns and an airbase, while other doughboys east of the capital conquered the southern end of the strong Shimbu line.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in his communique today that Maj. Gen. Jens A. Doe's 41st Division on Mindanao was "pursuing the enemy into the hills north of the airfields against increasing resistance" while medium bombers and fighters flew in close support.

Take Prison Sites

At least eight villages besides Zamboanga were captured in the first 48 hours of the invasion. Two airfields were taken, one of them a bomber field just 215 miles from Borneo.

On Luzon the 11th Airborne Division took the prison camp town of Los Banos, near the southern shore of Laguna de Bay, and the town of Santa Tomas, on the main rail and highway route into the southern part of the island.

Bombers Busy

The 158th Regimental combat team seized Batangas, on Batangas bay, and its adjacent airfield.

After 16 days of battle the First Cavalry Division on Monday captured Antipolo, southern anchor of the bitterly-defended Shimbu line on the Marikina watershed east of Manila, but fighting still was heavy east of there.

Fighter-bombers caused heavy explosions in the Takao hydro-electric plant on southwestern Formosa and started large fires in railway installations at Taito.

SUICIDE PROBE BRINGS ARREST

State police from the local substation announced today that the ownership of the gun which was used in the suicide shooting last Thursday of Eugene Hertz, 16-year-old eighth grade pupil in the Lincoln building has been traced.

A warrant was issued at the office of Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore for the arrest of James Seibert, 22, Gettysburg R. 4, for a violation of the uniform firearms act.

Seibert was accused of having sold the small .22 caliber revolver to a 16-year-old juvenile who in turn sold the weapon to young Hertz. Police said that the juvenile is to get a hearing in juvenile court.

He, too, was charged with a violation of the section of the Uniform Firearms act relating with sales of firearms to minors. Although the warrant for Seibert's arrest was issued Tuesday, he had not been apprehended by this afternoon. Police said they expect to take him into custody this evening.

Good Evening

Spring planting in Germany is being done mostly by Allied planes.

Five-pronged Air Assault

Allied bombers smashed at Germany from the west and south, following last night's five-pronged RAF assault at targets all the way from the western front to Berlin. The capital was hit for the 22nd straight night.

A London report from Moscow said Soviet troops had broken through a main German line in Berlin's forefield on an 18-mile front between captured Kuestrin and Frankfurt, but the Germans said attacks west of the Oder and north of Frankfurt had broken down. The German command in Berlin ordered the Reich capital defended above and under ground to the last bullet. Bitter fighting was reported all the way along the Oder from Stettin south to the Neisse river.

The Germans also told of a fresh and powerful Soviet assault in East Prussia aimed at wiping out the Nazis there.

Extend Bridgehead

Russian assault troops battered at Poland's pre-war model seaport of Gdynia from three sides and whittled steadily at the Germans' foothold on the Bay of Danzig. Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's troops increased pressure on Nazi positions west of the Oder in the Frankfurt area. The Germans said nearly 100,000 Russians were across the Oder between fallen Kuestrin and Frankfurt.

Hard fighting continued in the Honef suburbs as American tanks and infantry pushed against strong German positions. Berlin said U. S. troops using assault boats extended their bridgehead to Koenigswinter, two miles beyond Honef, on the north. From five to six U. S. divisions, the Germans said, have been poured into the bridgehead.

Patton's new thrust, launched in an area where the Third Army already is beyond the Saar river and Siegfried defenses between Merzig and Trier, spearheaded forward against light to moderate resistance, as the U. S. Seventh Army on the southern flank of the Saar front increased patrol activity. The Third's push gained up to 2 1/2 miles on a nine-mile front yesterday.

Nearing Superhighway

In the First's Rhine bridgehead, gains eastward of up to 1,000 yards against stubborn resistance were reported by headquarters. The First was drawing close to the Frankfurt superhighway, now well within artillery range. An 800-yard advance placed the Americans four miles northeast of Remagen.

Allied military men look for the formal end of the European war sometime this summer, a field dispatch from the U. S. Ninth Army front said, but they believe the Germans must be pursued all across Germany and that actual destruction of German arms may take longer. Optimism in Britain, however, was tempered by a warning of War Secretary Sir James Grigg that "We have had one false dawn."

Field dispatches from the Russian front said Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky aimed at wiping out the Gdynia pocket at top speed, leaving smoking Danzig to be mopped up later in an encircling movement. Meanwhile, hard fighting continued in Stettin's eastern suburb, Altdamm, where Zhukov is attempting to penetrate a deep defense belt.

The battle for Koenigsberg, east Prussian capital, appeared to be flaring again, and the Germans' counteroffensive in Hungary continued into its seventh day, although the Russians said the Nazis suffered heavily.

PEACE COULD BE PERILED BY NEW WEAPONS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

(Paradoxical though it seems, it's Hitler-the-aggressor who has provided us with one of the most important clues to the peace which the impending world security conference in San Francisco will try to establish.

If we've learned anything worth while from this throw-back to the Hun (with his blitzkriegs, rockets, flying bombs and other savage innovations) it is that peace will depend heavily on eternal vigilance against "secret weapons." These won't necessarily be things we have no knowledge of, but development by one nation of ideas which are possessed by all countries.

What we've got to watch out for is a "secret weapon" which may permit even a weak aggressor to achieve a lightning knockout. I'm indebted for this thought to Howard Blackeslee, Associated Press science editor, and it's presented here because I believe he is right.

Planes, Radios and Rockets
Some of the basic ideas which will be non-military knowledge which can be developed for purposes of war. The airplane is a fair example. Essentially a machine of peace it is constantly being readapted to make fearsome weapons. The radio is another.

Then there is the flying-bomb and the more recent rocket-bomb which the Nazis have used so effectively against England, Britain, America and other major countries knew all about the basic principles of these weapons. The point is that nobody took the trouble to develop them fully for war purposes except the Germans, and they didn't bring them into play until they got jammed into a corner through the crippling of their airforce.

No longer being able to bomb their enemies, the Hitlerites turned to bombs which would do their own flying. Necessity is mighty prolific as the mother of invention, and it's important to remember this in our peace plans.

Hitler's Blitzkrieg
Another of Hitler's "secret weapons" was the blitzkrieg. This of course was purely military and it was the development of ideas which were in the hands of all the military experts of the world. The Nazi dictator's sweeping successes at the outset of his conquest of Europe were mainly due to the blitzkrieg tactics, which utterly confused his enemies. Today the surprise element of the blitzkrieg is dead. But the blitz served a terrible purpose.

How are the peace-minded nations to safeguard themselves against attack with "secret weapons," which may be powerful enough to win a war with one quick, terrific blow? There are two countries against which we must guard—Germany and Japan. They are the dangerous aggressors. The soft under-belly of Europe, Benito Mussolini, led his people into attacking peace countries, but it hardly can be claimed that the Italians as a whole are a warlike folk.

Must Check On Japs, Nazis
But, you say, since we are going to knock out Germany and Japan, how can they do further harm? It's precisely because we are going to render these aggressors impotent militarily that we must provide against the development of secret weapons. This is especially true of the Germans, who rank high in science and are traditionally diligent in the development of ideas. Because they will have no military machine with which to wage further war, they're likely to turn their minds to the development of a secret weapon or weapons to obtain revenge. In fact it's a safe bet they will.

In order to guard against this, as I see it, the world security organization must insure—by detective methods if necessary—that all discoveries and developments of whatever nature, in Germany and Japan are known at once to the United Nations. This applies not only to military but to ordinary developments, be they biological, chemical, or what will you. The discovery of a new gas or a quick method of spreading a plague might mean death to some unsuspecting nation.

PEACE COULD BE PERILED BY NEW WEAPONS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

Paradoxical though it seems, it's Hitler-the-aggressor who has provided us with one of the most important clues to the peace which the impending world security conference in San Francisco will try to establish.

If we've learned anything worth while from this throw-back to the Hun (with his blitzkriegs, rockets, flying bombs and other savage innovations) it is that peace will depend heavily on eternal vigilance against "secret weapons." These won't necessarily be things we have no knowledge of, but development by one nation of ideas which are possessed by all countries.

What we've got to watch out for is a "secret weapon" which may permit even a weak aggressor to achieve a lightning knockout. I'm indebted for this thought to Howard Blakeslee, Associated Press science editor, and it's presented here because I believe he is right.

Planes, Radios and Rockets
Some of the basic ideas will be military, but most of them will be non-military knowledge which can be developed for purposes of war. The airplane is a fair example. Essentially a machine of peace it is constantly being readapted to make fearsome weapons. The radio is another.

Then there is the flying-bomb and the more recent rocket-bomb which the Nazis have used so effectively against England, Britain, America and other major countries knew all about the basic principles of these weapons. The point is that nobody took the trouble to develop them fully for war purposes except the Germans, and they didn't bring them into play until they got jammed into a corner through the crippling of their air force.

No longer being able to bomb their enemies, the Hitlerites turned to bombs which would do their own flying. Necessity is mighty prolific as the mother of invention, and it's important to remember this in our peace plans.

Hitler's Blitzkrieg
Another of Hitler's "secret weapons" was the blitzkrieg. This of course was purely military and it was the development of ideas which were in the hands of all the military experts of the world. The Nazi dictator's sweeping successes at the outset of his conquest of Europe were mainly due to the blitzkrieg tactics, which utterly confused his enemies. Today the surprise element of the blitzkrieg is dead. But the blitz served a terrible purpose.

How are the peace-minded nations to safeguard themselves against attack with "secret weapons," which may be powerful enough to win a war with one quick, terrific blow? There are two countries against which we must guard—Germany and Japan. They are the dangerous aggressors. The soft under-belly of Europe, Benito Mussolini, led his people into attacking helpless countries, but it hardly can be claimed that the Italians as a whole are a warlike folk.

Must Check On Japs, Nazis
But, you say, since we are going to knock out Germany and Japan, how can they do further harm? It's precisely because we are going to render these aggressors impotent militarily that we must provide against the development of secret weapons. This is especially true of the Germans, who rank high in science and are traditionally diligent in the development of ideas. Because they will have no military machine with which to wage further war, they're likely to turn their minds to the development of a secret weapon or weapons to obtain revenge. In fact it's a safe bet they will.

In order to guard against this, as I see it, the world security organization must insure—by detective methods if necessary—that all discoveries and developments of whatever nature, in Germany and Japan are known at once to the United Nations. This applies not only to military but to ordinary developments, be they biological, chemical, or what will you. The discovery of a new gas or a quick method of spreading a plague might mean death to some unsuspecting nation.

OSAKA'S HEART WIPE OUT BY 300 SUPERFORTS

21st Bomber Command Headquarters, Guam, March 14 (AP)—Three hundred Superfortresses wiped out five square miles or more of Osaka's industrial heart before dawn today, expanding their fiery destruction in three of Japan's largest cities during a five-day period to 24 square miles—larger than the area of Manhattan Island.

At a cost of four Superforts over the targets—two over Tokyo and one each over Nagoya and Osaka—the B-29s have spilled more than 6,000 tons of incendiaries in new low-level tactics which have:

Burned out 17 square miles of Tokyo, in the first dark hours of Saturday.

"A Solid Fire"
Leveled two square miles—47,600,000 square feet—in the air factory center of Nagoya, raided in darkness Monday.

Wiped out hundreds of little wooden war-vital workshops, known as "hidden factories," in Osaka whose 3,250,000 inhabitants make it second only to Tokyo in size.

Returning crewmen from the last planes over Osaka told, Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Power, commander of Guam-based B-29s, the inflammable center of Osaka was "a solid fire" when the raid was over.

The area engulfed by uncontrolled fires, visible 125 miles away, may have totaled as much as eight square miles, said bombardier Lt. William T. Loeche, Lake Wood, Ohio.

The B-29s, fast turning Japan's biggest cities into torches in the night, have in three days wiped out an area larger than Jersey City, N. J. (21 square miles) and almost as big as Syracuse, N. Y. (25 square miles).

Leaves From Diary Of War Correspondent

By WES GALLAGHER
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

Cologne (AP)—Most soldiers hate "K" rations after eating them months on end.

But Pvt. Joseph I. Gobel, of Cincinnati, Ohio, never will complain again.

Last October, fighting in the Siegfried line, he was hit in the chest by a shell fragment. A surgeon probing for the fragment found pieces of cardboard, cheese and tin. A box of "K" rations in Gobel's pocket had broken its force and saved his life. Now Gobel is back with his unit in the 30th Division.

Thirtieth Division patches make bad eating. Ask Pfc. William G. Bryant, of Roxboro, N. C. Jumping across the Roer river in a night attack, Bryant found he had a patch in his pocket and, remembering orders that the Division was on the secret list, the soldier chewed and swallowed the cloth patch. A few minutes later he learned that just before the jump off the division had been informed it could wear patches.

Used Nazi Trenches
Nothing stops First Sgt. Joseph Stumbel, of the Bronx, N. Y., once he sets out to rejoin Co. K of the 120 Infantry, 30th Division, after a leave. Just back from Paris, he found his company had gone into battle and was surrounded. So the sergeant went up front, fought his way through to his outfit and reported to his commanding officer.

Lt. Thomas Gibbons, of Carbondale, Pa., found the vaulted German military mess too smart. Given the job of leading G company of the 119th Infantry Regiment into Konigsloven, Gibbons found the outfit pinned down by a German artillery barrage and tank fire. But he found, also a ready-made solution—trenches the Germans had dug for defense of the town.

"Many thanks to the Jerries who dug all those nice trenches," Gibbons said, "we crawled right through them and were protected from tank fire."

Red Prisoners Helped
The Red Army helped in the capture of Neuss by the 83rd Infantry Division.

Three Russian prisoners in regular Red Army uniforms were being held east of the Rhine and heard Americans approaching the river. They stole rifles, made their way across the river, and joined the attacking 83rd.

"I split my 'K' ration with one of those Russians and he was so tickled he invited me to visit his home near Moscow," said Pfc. Earl J. Anderson, of Nantasket Beach, Mass.

The question of what to do at night when challenged by a sentry and you've forgotten the password was solved by Pfc. Pedro Gomez Orboles, of Colorado, who was just getting well along in his English. Challenged, he just yelled "Kamerad, Kamerad!" to avoid being shot at and let himself be taken prisoner at the battalion command post where he was identified.

Holding Action On 'Forgotten Front'

With the Sixth Army Group, Southern France, March 14 (AP)—U. S. troops, including fighting Americans of Japanese ancestry and some Puerto Rican units, are still fighting a holding action on the important "forgotten front" along the French-Italian border.

In the towering mountains of the Maritime Alps, where pack mules must be used to carry supplies to outposts and maintain communications, Brig. Gen. Ralph C. Tobin commands a small army which contains a front where a German breakthrough might prove embarrassing to American and French armies in southern France.

There is no idea that Italian troops, leavened by German units, have any intention now of doing more than guard the escape route for German troops left in northern Italy. But if the Ardennes breakthrough had succeeded, this Alps sector might have provided an area for a diversionary thrust valuable to the Nazis.

Little more than an hour by jeep from the luxury of the French Riviera, Tobin's troops man mountain observation posts and engage in constant patrolling, capturing a few enemy soldiers to keep their information up to date and occasionally engaging in pitched battles. The Italians opposite them generally are content to fight off the patrols sent out from our lines.

criminals will be punished swiftly but justly. Reparations will be required in kind.

The German people were told, however, that there is no intention to destroy them as a race.

One plain result of the reparations agreement is that the United States will receive relatively little. Reparations "in kind" doesn't mean much to a nation which has escaped battle on her own soil.

Important as they were, the agreements on reparations and control of Germany came with comparative ease.

OSAKA'S HEART WIPED OUT BY 300 SUPERFORTS

21st Bomber Command Headquarters, Guam, March 14 (AP)—Three hundred Superfortresses wiped out five square miles or more of Osaka's industrial heart before dawn today, expanding their fiery destruction in three of Japan's largest cities during a five-day period to 24 square miles—larger than the area of Manhattan Island.

At a cost of four Superforts over the targets—two over Tokyo and one each over Nagoya and Osaka—the B-29s have spilled more than 6,000 tons of incendiaries in new low-level tactics which have:

Burned out 17 square miles of Tokyo, in the first dark hours of Saturday.

"A Solid Fire"
Leveled two square miles—47,600,000 square feet—in the air factory center of Nagoya, raided in darkness Monday.

Wiped out hundreds of little wooden war-vital workshops, known as "hidden factories," in Osaka whose 3,250,000 inhabitants make it second only to Tokyo in size.

Returning crewmen from the last planes over Osaka told Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Power, commander of Guam-based B-29s, the inflammable center of Osaka was "a solid fire" when the raid was over.

The area engulfed by uncontrolled fires, visible 125 miles away, may have totaled as much as eight square miles, said bombardier Lt. William T. Loeche, Lake Wood, Ohio.

The B-29s, fast turning Japans' biggest cities into torches in the night, have in three days wiped out an area larger than Jersey City, N. J. (21 square miles) and almost as big as Syracuse, N. Y. (25 square miles).

Leaves From Diary Of War Correspondent

By WES GALLAGHER
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)
Cologne (AP)—Most soldiers have "K" rations after eating them months on end.

But Pvt. Joseph I. Gobel, of Cincinnati, Ohio, never will complain again.

Last October, fighting in the Siegfried line, he was hit in the chest by a shell fragment. A surgeon probing for the fragment found pieces of cardboard, cheese and tin. A box of "K" rations in Gobel's pocket had broken his force and saved his life. Now Gobel is back with his unit in the 30th Division.

Thirtieth Division patches make bad eating. Ask Pfc. William G. Bryant, of Roxboro, N. C. Jumping across the Roer river in a night attack, Bryant found he had a patch in his pocket and, remembering orders that the Division was on the secret list, the soldier chewed and swallowed the cloth patch. A few minutes later he learned that just before the jump off the division had been informed it could wear patches.

Used Nazi Trenches
Nothing stops First Sgt. Joseph Stumbel, of the Bronx, N. Y., once he sets out to rejoin Co. K of the 126 Infantry, 36th Division, after a leave. Just back from Paris, he found his company had gone into battle and was surrounded. So the sergeant went up front, fought his way through to his outfit and reported to his commanding officer.

Lt. Thomas Gibbons, of Carbondale, Pa., found the vaunted German military men not too smart. Given the job of leading G company of the 119th Infantry Regiment into Konigsheven, Gibbons found the outfit pinned down by a German artillery barrage and tank fire. But he found, also a ready-made solution—trenches the Germans had dug for defense of the town.

"Many thanks to the Jerries who dug all those nice trenches," Gibbons said, "we crawled right through them and were protected from tank fire."

Red Prisoners Helped
The Red Army helped in the capture of Neuss by the 83rd Infantry Division.

Three Russian prisoners in regular Red Army uniforms were being held east of the Rhine and heard Americans approaching the river. They stole rifles, made their way across the river, and joined the attacking 83rd.

"I split my 'K' ration with one of those Russians Joes and he was so tickled he invited me to visit his home near Moscow," said Pfc. Earl J. Anderson, of Nantasket Beach, Mass.

The question of what to do at night when challenged by a sentry and you've forgotten the password was solved by Pfc. Pedro Gomez Orboles, of Colorado, who was just getting well along in his English. Challenged, he just yelled "Kamerad, Kamerad!" to avoid being shot at and let himself be taken prisoner to the battalion command post where he was identified.

Holding Action On 'Forgotten Front'

With the Sixth Army Group, Southern France, March 14 (AP)—U. S. troops, including fighting Americans of Japanese ancestry and some Puerto Rican units, are still fighting a holding action on the important "forgotten front" along the French-Italian border.

In the towering mountains of the Maritime Alps, where pack mules must be used to carry supplies to outposts and maintain communications, Brig. Gen. Ralph C. Tobin commands a small army which contains a front where a German breakthrough might prove embarrassing to American and French armies in southern France.

There is no idea that Italian troops, leavened by German units, have any intention now of doing more than guard the escape route for German troops left in northern Italy. But if the Ardennes breakthrough had succeeded, this Alps sector might have provided an area for a diversionary thrust valuable to the Nazis.

Little more than an hour by jeep from the luxury of the French Riviera, Tobin's troops man mountain observation posts and engage in constant patrolling, capturing a few enemy soldiers to keep their information up to date and occasionally en-

criminals will be punished swiftly but justly. Reparations will be required in kind.

The German people were told, however, that there is no intention to destroy them as a race.

One plain result of the reparations agreement is that the United States will receive relatively little. Reparations "in kind" doesn't mean much to a nation which has escaped battle on her own soil.

Important as they were, the agreements on reparations and control of Germany came with comparative ease.

Just Folks

GRANDPA'S NAPKIN

There was honest reason for it, though I viewed it with a grin And wondered oft why Grandpa tucked his napkin 'neath his chin.

Though the father and the mother were them loosely on their knees, Grandpa's napkin filled his collar just as snugly as you please.

It stayed just beneath his whiskers and it billowed on his chest. Why he always wore it that way, as a boy, I never guessed.

Once I questioned him about it, I remember his reply: "When you've lived as long as I have you will know the reason why."

There was honest reason for it, and today I know it well. Spots of gray ruin neckwear, front of shirt and coat lapel. When your hair is turning silver little, careless ways begin: Yes, my dears, that's why your grandpa wears his napkin 'neath his chin.

Today's Talk

CLEVER MAN WITH A PLAIN MIND

The late E. V. Lucas was not only a famous book publisher, but one of the most entertaining and instructive of all essayists. He was an authority on Charles Lamb and wrote what is considered the best biography of him, but many an essay, as well, he devoted to this one love.

In a recent volume, called "At the Shrine of St. Charles," are to be found many such essays. He describes an interview with one, "His Cousin the Bookbinder," in which this humble man told of his great and undying admiration for "Elia" (Charles Lamb). He said that he didn't know anything about genius, but that he liked "a clever man with a plain mind." Well that is what is represented in all the writings of Charles Lamb. Nothing profound, but simple, easy to understand statements and thoughts. That is why, after all these years, Charles Lamb is so greatly beloved.

Said this cousin "Never a stitch will he let you put into any book, even if it's dropping to pieces. Why he won't even take the dealer's tickets off them. He never thinks of the outside of a book, but you should see him tearing the heart out of them by the light of one candle." That's admiration for you and that, explains a little of the so-called genius of Charles Lamb.

Many of the sayings and speeches of Abraham Lincoln haunt the pages of literature with their simple, unstudied beauty. Take almost any book by W. H. Hudson, the naturalist, and you know at once that you are being entertained and instructed by a mind that represented genius because his thoughts flowed like liquid music.

It is easy to understand the immortality of such a poem as Thomas Gray's "Elegy in a Country Churchyard." Its simplicity and rhythmic beauty are perfect. It flowed from a great understanding heart, and so the poem is for all time. And although Gray's mind was noted in his day as one of the most cultivated and although he wrote many another poem none have ever been able to meet the fame and universal admiration of the "Elegy."

Inasmuch as books live longest in the heart more should be written to the heart.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "On Forgiving."

FAIR PRACTICES

LAW FOR STATE STARTS FIGHT

Harrisburg, March 14 (AP)—A partisan legislative fight developed today over creation of a Pennsylvania fair employment practices law.

The long-smouldering controversy broke into the open with committee release for floor action of conflicting House and Senate bills making racial and religious discrimination a punishable offense.

Object of committee action in both branches, said Chairman Adam T. Bower (R, Northumberland) of the House Labor Committee, is to permit a joint-Senate-House public hearing on the measures March 27, with voting delayed until after that date.

However, Senate Republican leaders are considering passing the administration plan and letting the House wrestle with the matter, Co-sponsor A. Evans Kephart (R, Phila.) declaring "I can't see any other bill but mine."

Question of Enforcement

Kephart's proposal would give the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board authority to enforce fair employment practices, guaranteeing to employees "equal employment opportunity and full membership rights in labor organizations without discrimination on account of race, creed, color, national origin or political affiliation."

Homer S. Brown (D, Allegheny) is author of the House Fair Employment Practices Bill reported out. Chief difference is that it would set up a special commission to handle the job.

Approving the general idea of a Fair Employment Practices Act, Governor Martin recently told newsmen he thought the subject could be handled by an existing agency instead of spending $300,000 annually to create a special commission.

Adams county's representative, Francis Worley, said today he is securing a copy of the Fair Employment Practices Act passed recently in New York state and will compare its provisions with those of the Brown and Kephart measures in preparation for the public hearing March 27.

The Fellowship Of Prayer

"And it Fell Not": "And it fell not, for it was founded upon the rock—Read Matthew 7:24-27"

The rhetorical majesty of this passage is matched only by the majesty of its truth. It reigns by divine right and no comment can exhaust it. All the centuries since these words were spoken have been the demonstration of their finality. In these chapters, known as the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus has been tracing the boundary lines of the only way of life in which and by which our souls and our societies are secure. He has set forth with luminous simplicity the fundamental principles of conduct and fellowship.

The only alternative, Jesus said, with sad foresight to our budding upon his ways and words, was the collapse of all buildings. Rose Pruning Suggestions

There are four main reasons why roses should be pruned—(1) To keep the flowering woods young; (2) To produce better blooms; (3) To control shape and spread; and (4) To remove dead, diseased or misplaced woods. Of course, the time of year to prune and methods of pruning depend largely on the particular species and variety.

Hybrid tea roses should be pruned in March after danger of hard freezes is past and before growth starts. To fail to prune these favorite roses every spring is a serious mistake and results in a flowering tragedy. First, cut out all dead, dying, diseased and otherwise defective woods. Then prune back last year's growth from one-half to two-thirds, cutting each branch off just above a vigorous bud. It should be observed that the more of last year's wood that is retained the larger will be the number of flowers produced but the lower will be their individual quality. In general the aim in pruning hybrid tea roses is to reduce the amount of last year's wood so the plant will not have too large a number of shoots with their foliage and flowers to support. In most cases a smaller number of roses of high quality is the aim in pruning.

The old-fashioned or so-called June roses should be pruned at the same time recommended for pruning hybrid teas. However, they should not be pruned so severely. It is advisable to cut back the previous year's wood about one-half or slightly more, removing the least desirable and oldest woods and leaving the top thinned for free circulation of air and penetration of sunlight.

Most difficulties in rose pruning are encountered with the climbers or ramblers. Not only are faulty methods often employed, but it is easy to make the mistake of pruning certain species at the wrong time of the year. Some require spring pruning, others should be pruned after the flowering season. To distinguish between these two large groups, remember this particular point. Climbers which produce their flowers solely on new canes which started growth from the base the previous year should be pruned after the flowering season, those which produce their bloom on laterals growing out from the older woods, should be pruned just before growth starts.

The first group resembles bramble fruits. No flowers are ever produced on two-year old or older woods. The blooming canes are, therefore, spent and useless after blooms fade and should then, like the bearing canes of brambles, be cut away so all the strength can go into the newly appearing canes. Of course, the strongest of these new canes should be kept and too many of the smaller ones may result in over-crowding.

Climbers, such as the Noleste group, which produce their flowers on laterals from the old woods should have the longer canes cut back in March to 3 to 5 eyes or buds each and the older woods thinned and controlled.

It is important to keep close watch for cankers, rust and other disease symptoms at pruning time and remove all affected portions. Too, all pruning and other refuse should be removed and burned to reduce disease dangers. Immediately after pruning and before buds swell, apply a dormant spray of Bordeaux mixture or lime-sulphur to curb mildew, rust and black spot. All related questions will be gladly answered for readers who write the editor.

SALES TAX IS UP

TO LEGISLATURE IN THIS STATE

Harrisburg, March 14 (AP)—A high administration source said today action on a Republican legislator's proposal to levy a three percent retail sales tax for school purposes is "up to the legislature."

"The Governor has said on numerous occasions that if they want to spend all the money they are talking about spending for school," declared the source who declined to be quoted by name "they must provide some means of raising it."

IT'S ALL IN THE WAY YOU LOOK AT IT!

MAYBE you won't thank us for reminding you of the H. C. of L. But it doesn't seem nearly so high when you look at it in the light of your electric bill!

Almost alone among household necessities, the price of electricity has not spiraled upward with war. In fact, official government figures* show that the average price of electricity has actually dropped 3.2% since 1939!

That's especially good news now, but it continues a long-time trend. Electric prices have been coming down so steadily that the average American family gets about twice as much electricity for its money today as it did 15 years ago.

* From NELSON EDDY in "THE ELECTRIC HOUR" with Robert Armstrong's Orchestra. Every Sunday afternoon, 4-5:30, EWT, CBS Network.

And it has been accomplished in spite of rising costs and taxes—on top of tremendous war demands for electric service that were met without delay.

It was done by efficiency and experience and sound business management—by the same American enterprise which built our nation and on which its future depends.

GRANDPA'S NAPKIN

There was honest reason for it, though I viewed it with a grin and wondered oft why grandpa tucked his napkin 'neath his chin.

Though the father and the mother wore them loosely on their knees, Grandpa's napkin filled his collar just as snugly as you please.

It stayed just beneath his whiskers and it billowed on his chest. Why he always wore it that way, as a boy, I never guessed.

Once I questioned him about it. I remember his reply:

"When you've lived as long as I have you will know the reason why."

There was honest reason for it, and today I know it well.

Spots of gray run neckwear, front of shirt and coat lapel.

When your hair is turning silver little, careless ways begin;

Yes, my dears, that's why your grandpa wears his napkin 'neath his chin.

CLEVER MAN WITH A PLAIN MIND

The late E. V. Lucas was not only a famous book publisher, but one of the most entertaining and instructive of all essayists. He was an authority on Charles Lamb and wrote what is considered the best biography of him, but many an essay, as well, he devoted to this one love.

In a recent volume, called "At the Shrine of St. Charles," are to be found many such essays. He describes an interview with one, "His Cousin the Bookbinder," in which this humble man told of his great and undying admiration for "Eli" (Charles Lamb). He said that he didn't know anything about genius, but that he liked "a clever man with a plain mind." Well, that is what is represented in all the writings of Charles Lamb. Nothing profound, but simple, easy to understand statements and thoughts. That is why, after all these years, Charles Lamb is so greatly beloved.

Said this cousin: "Never a stitch will he let you put into any book, even if it's dropping to pieces. Why he won't even take the dealer's tickets off them. He never thinks of the outside of a book, but you should see him tearing the heart out of them by the light of one candle." That's admiration for you, and that explains a little of the so-called genius of Charles Lamb.

Many of the sayings and speeches of Abraham Lincoln haunt the pages of literature with their simple, unstudied beauty. Take almost any book by W. H. Hudson, the naturalist, and you know at once that you are being entertained and instructed by a mind that represented genius, because his thoughts flowed like liquid music.

It is easy to understand the immortality of such a poem as Thomas Gray's "Elegy in a Country Church Yard." Its simplicity and rhythmic beauty are perfect. It flowed from a great, understanding heart, and so the poem is for all time. And although Gray's mind was noted in his day as one of the most cultivated, and although he wrote many another poem, none have ever been able to meet the fame and universal admiration of the "Elegy."

Inasmuch as books live longest in the heart, more should be written to the heart.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "On Forgiving."

FAIR PRACTICES
LAW FOR STATE
STARTS FIGHT

Harrisburg, March 14 (AP)—A partisan legislative fight developed today over creation of a Pennsylvania fair employment practices law.

The long-smouldering controversy broke into the open with committee release for floor action of conflicting House and Senate bills making racial and religious discrimination a punishable offense.

Object of committee action in both branches, said Chairman Adam T. Bower (R., Northumberland) of the House Labor Committee, is to permit a joint-Senate-House public hearing on the measures March 27, with voting delayed until after that date.

However, Senate Republican leaders are considering passing the administration plan and letting the House wrestle with the matter, Co-sponsor A. Evans Kephart (R., Phila.) declaring "I can't see any other bill but mine."

Question of Enforcement
Kephart's proposal would give the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board authority to enforce fair employment practices, guaranteeing to employees "equal employment opportunity and full membership rights in labor organizations without discrimination on account of race, creed, color, national origin or political affiliation."

Homer S. Brown (D., Allegheny) is author of the House Fair Employment Practices Bill reported out. Chief difference is that it would set up a special commission to handle the job.

Approving the general idea of a Fair Employment Practices Act, Governor Martin recently told newsmen he thought the subject could be handled by an existing agency instead of spending $300,000 annually to create a special commission.

Adams county's representative, Francis Worley, said today he is securing a copy of the Fair Employment Practices Act passed recently in New York state and will compare its provisions with those of the Brown and Kephart measures in preparation for the public hearing March 27.

The Fellowship Of Prayer

"And It Fell Not": "And it fell not, for it was founded upon the rock."—Read Matthew 7:24-27.

The rhetorical majesty of this passage is matched only by the majesty of its truth. It reigns by divine right and no comment can exhaust it. All the centuries since these words were spoken have been the demonstration of their finality. In these chapters, known as the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus has been tracing the boundary lines of the only way of life in which and by which our souls and our societies are secure. He has set forth with luminous simplicity the fundamental principles of conduct and fellowship.

The only alternative, Jesus said, with sad foresight, to our building upon his ways and words, was the collapse of all buildings. Jesus could not have foreseen how grandiosely we would build or how robot bombs reducing cities to dust, would demonstrate the warning spoken on the hillside two thousand years ago. Tired-Listless?

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable. Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better. Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 25¢.

Second Marriage

By EVELYN MURRAY CAMPBELL

YESTERDAY: Maud refused to live in the house any longer and announced that she would move to the garden house. She objected to the furtive manner in which Cynthia had gotten married. The next day, when Cynthia went to the office she was aghast at the bills the children had run up during the summer, especially Vera.

Chapter 9

The children had always been allowed to have what they wanted but their wants had been simple enough. She hadn't time to shop for them, but now the bills were staggering. Then her mood softened. Perhaps Vera was just growing up. She thought of birthdays, a little hazy for a moment. Vera would be eighteen—no, nineteen on her next, in January. Nineteen. It was a chilling thought. After nineteen comes twenty and a girl is a woman.

She wrote checks for every one of the extravagant demands. The house bills alone were doubled, as if everyone had gone on a spending spree. But she would not complain even to herself.

Miss Lee announced discreetly, "Mr. Almon."

Ned was haggard under his smooth, well fed and shaven facade. He had the look of a person who has just fallen downstairs and is gazing back at the object that trapped him.

Cynthia called his name putting out her hands for it was very evident that he was suffering, whether from frustrated love or the natural humiliation of the loser. She was ashamed all over again for her hard-to-explain silence.

"I telephoned to the house this morning," he said heavily. "Maud told me."

The silence was awkward while Cynthia imagined Maud as commentator. There it was again. She should have called Ned at once—last night—but she hadn't even thought of him.

"It was very sudden," she said meekly. "There wasn't much time to think about—other people. I hope you'll forgive me, Ned."

It was what she had said to Maud only now it was more banal because this was Ned, her friend.

He managed a sort of smile. "So I'm other people? But there's no question of forgiveness, Cynthia. Nothing has changed so far as you and I are concerned. It could never change." If he expected her face to light up at that he was disappointed. She merely looked troubled.

Then he glanced around the room as if he expected to see someone behind the window blinds. "Where is—I'm afraid I didn't quite get the name when Maud told me. I was rather bewildered over you, know."

Cynthia told him with her chin up. They wouldn't get far, ignoring Carey like this. Belittling him. At the same time she realized that she hadn't thought of him for an hour; as she came into her office she had slipped him off with her coat and hat. But now she explained proudly that her husband was "at the plant in Burbank. "He is an engineer," she said and gave the word all she had.

"So you didn't marry a small business man," Ned said not meaning to be sarcastic but sounding like it. "An engineer! The rest of us must seem tame in comparison."

She wanted to say "Don't be like this," but it wouldn't have been wise. With a strong sense of loss she knew irrevocably that nothing could be as it had been for her and Ned. The old relationship was gone and could never be revived. There wouldn't be time for it, nor would she have wanted it otherwise. The picture of herself with Ned and the one with Carey were too divergent and it was with Carey that she belonged and wanted to be.

Ned brought it up again as he was leaving, clumsily saying the wrong thing. "If you ever need me, Cynthia, I'll be there, just like always."

"You're an old dear," she said vaguely.

She wanted Ned to go so that she could telephone to Carey. It became necessary all at once she should hear his voice to reassure herself this was reality. But she hadn't the remotest idea of how to locate him in the maelstrom of an enormous airplane factory, impossible to project her petty demand. "May I speak to Mr. Winslow?" into the important routine of that human hive. She felt insignificant for nearly the first time in her life for here she didn't count and her business card was a scrap of paper.

Carey was at home when she returned and not pleased at her absence.

"Where on earth have you been?" he demanded after a swift possessive kiss. "The office? But you didn't have to go down there in all this heat. You could have telephoned."

Cynthia opened her mouth and closed it again. It worried her even to remember the thousand and one details she had looked after in her swift transit with Miss Lee.

"Well?" He gave her a little shake.

"I could have but I didn't." She collapsed helplessly against him. That was the way he loved her to be. "Darling, it's wonderful to see you again. Let's not have these long separations."

"We won't." He was unexpectedly emphatic. "You'll have to quit this office business, Cynthia. I won't have you prowling around in all sorts of places when you ought to be here."

She pushed him off with the flat of her hands, looking into his face to see if she had heard aright. "You're joking Carey. . . . How queer that they had never talked of this before. Then she remembered that there had been such talk but it must have been over a misunderstanding, seeing it from different angles, each thinking that the other wouldn't interfere. Now she knew with sure insight that he had taken her abdication for granted.

NOT FAGS ON MAR. 14

Lancaster, Pa., March 14 (AP)—A line of men and women formed in a downtown street and a man stepped to the end, edged forward slowly for half an hour.

"Say!" he exclaimed, as the line turned a corner, "that doesn't look like a cigarette store."

"Cigarettes?" his neighbor said. "We're waiting to pay income tax."

FIRE HALL BURNS

Cementon, Pa., March 14 (AP)—Laurel Fire company volunteers, answering an alarm, found their own newly-renovated fire hall on fire. Rallying from every corner of town, they got the blaze out quickly.

He hadn't the faintest notion of what it meant.

"I can't give up my business Carey," she said gravely. "It's part of me. I saved it. Built it up. It's my children's inheritance—not real wealth but something that'll see them through until they can stand on their own feet. There's an income and we can use it all. We do use nearly all of it. I couldn't stop—if I wanted to."

ALLEN TOWN 5 LACES TROJANS; FAVORITES WIN

By TOM SHRIVER

Harrisburg, March 14 (AP)—Favorites had little trouble winning last night in the opening regional games of the annual P.I.A.A. basketball tournament. One team moved directly into the eastern finals, and three others qualified for sectional semi-finals.

Allen town's lanky Canaries made it 26 wins in 27 starts by turning back Chambersburg, 58-32, as Coach Birney Crum made free use of substitutes throughout the game. Joe Skurla, a reserve forward, accounted for 15 points. The victory put the Lehigh county nine safely in the eastern finals.

Plymouth's undefeated Indians made it 24 straight by turning back unbeaten Shamokin, 60-42, on the Bloomsburg floor; Huntington, another unbeaten squad, defeated Somerset, 45-29; while Sharpshooter, the lone "dark horse" among the seven survivors, eliminated Bradford, 42-35.

The class A teams now rest until Saturday when three more games are listed, sending last night's winners against a trio of rivals that drew byes in the regional games.

Plymouth, District Two champions, face Radnor, District One "whiz kids," at Rockne Memorial hall, Allentown, for the right to meet Crum's Canaries next week.

Huntingdon takes its 26-game winning streak to McKeesport to meet Donora, considered by many the class of the west, while Sharpshooters will be close to home when the "dark horses" face Langley at Farrell.

Two class B games are on tonight's schedule with Montgomery, District Four, facing Dalton, the two-time champions of District Twelve. Winner of this game meets McAdoo at Hazleton in an eastern semi-final.

In the other contest Conneautville clashes with Otto Township in a western semi-final at Allegheny college, Meadville. The winner gets a full week's rest while Stonycreek township and Gettysburg are battling for other western final berth at Altoona on Friday.

FDR IN FAVOR OF BALL TILTS

Washington, March 14 (AP)—Baseball leaders today felt that President Roosevelt clouted a homer with the bases loaded to put their side well ahead in efforts to keep the sport alive this season.

But a dangerous bitter is coming up on the other side in the form of pending manpower legislation.

Mr. Roosevelt said at a news conference yesterday that he is all in favor of baseball carrying on.

His only qualification: As long as it does not require perfectly healthy people who could be doing more useful war work.

Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators, speaking for baseball said: "We've always wanted our players to be examined and re-examined so there could be no doubt as to their right on the playing field."

Calibre Immaterial
A reporter asked the President if he thought it possible under the no-perfectly-healthy-people proviso for the leagues to operate this year. Why not? Mr. Roosevelt inquired.

The President added that he would go to see sandlot games himself and so would most people.

This was interpreted to mean that he "even" would attend sandlot games and that the war-imposed low caliber or organized baseball would not keep the fans away.

Mr. Roosevelt also said Griffith was quite right in telling reporters that he (the President) favors night baseball. He was one of the fathers of it, he added. Griffith gave the President his annual pass at the White House Monday.

MONEY FLIES

Tuscaloosa, Ala. (AP)—William Harris found a $25 war bond on his farm.

The bond had been issued to Ola Mae Burns of Meridian, Miss., and investigation showed it was blown from her home on February 12 when a tornado hit and demolished the house, which is 100 miles west of Tuscaloosa.

Fights Last Night

(By The Associated Press)

Brooklyn—Phil Palmer, 141, Vancouver, B. C., outpointed Johnny Williams, 138½, Montgomery, Ala., 3. White Plains, N. Y.—Vic Pignataro, 140½, New York, knocked out Frankie Cormoda, 137½, New York, N. Y., 2.

Jersey City—Irish Jimmy Mulligan, 170, Boston, T.K.O. Bob Wade, 169, Newark, 4.

Buffalo—Johnny Green, 145, Lackawanna, outpointed Sidney Miller, 155½, Detroit, 10.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, March 14 (AP)—The Pacific Northwest looks like the new gold coast for golf pros. Six tournaments are booked out there for the coming summer—each for a $10,000 purse. . . . And on the first day of the four-ball matches at Miami so many customers turned out that they ran out of tickets and had to send to town for the leftovers from last year's Miami open. . . . By limiting invitations to teams in nearby territory the Metropolitan Basketball Tournament committee reduced travel by more than 50 per cent as was required last year. . . . A feature of the Giants' Lakewood, N. J., training camp is an oversize juke box in what used to be John D. Rockefeller's music room.

THE LAST WORD

Frank Howard, Clemson grid coach, was chatting with an alumnus the other day when a Marine officer walked in and gave him a hearty greeting. . . . Frank finally had to admit he didn't recognize the visitor, who explained: "I'm your old Alabama roommate, John Cain." . . . When the discussion simmered down the alumnus asked Cain: "Tell me, Sugar, did Howard actually do all that good blocking he has told us about for 14 years?" . . . Cain, who was quite a halfback at "Bama, replied: "Those blocks Howard never made are the reason he didn't recognize me just now."

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES

Jack Matheson, the Detroit Lions' end, has set himself up in business in Kalamazoo, Mich., with a new recipe for the national dish—hamburger. . . . Bill Mokray, Boston Garden basketball maestro, checks in with the news that Dale White, of Irving, Ill., high school, scored 965 points in 41 cage games. The kid rises at 6:30 a. m., milks nine cows and feeds 30 pigs before hiking to school. Does he carry books? . . . Under Haegg's objections to running on the boards apparently doesn't extend to dancing on them. And he ought to be pretty fair on smorgasboards, too. . . . Bill Mosienko, winner of hockey's Lady Byng trophy, hasn't bought a hat in two seasons. The Blackhawks supply 'em when their players pull the three-goal "hat trick." . . . Look for announcement soon that Clem Crowe will coach football at Iowa and Notre Dame will need a new basketball tutor.

A'S SIGN ACE HURLER; OTHER STARS REPORT

By TED MEIER

New York, March 14 (AP)—Russ Christopher, the Richmond, Calif., tall right-hander who is expected to be one of the best pitchers in the American Baseball League for the Philadelphia Athletics this season, has ended his holdout.

The 6:03 stringbean, winner of 14 games of the second division A's in 1944, agreed to terms yesterday after a telephone talk with his 82-year-old manager, Connie Mack, just back in Philadelphia from the Pacific coast.

"There was nothing wrong with the boy that we couldn't straighten out after a talk," explained Connie, who joins his team at Frederick, Md., today.

While Connie beamed over the signing of Christopher, Horace Stoneham, president of the New York Giants, announced that southpaw Cliff Melton, infielder Billy Jurgas and outfielder Charley Mead were holdouts. The Giants held a 2½-hour drill at their Lakewood, N. J., camp in which their latest arrival, first baseman Phil Weintraub, participated.

Other training camp items: New York Yankees—Players at Atlantic City camp jumped to 15 with arrival of third sacker Don Savage and pitcher Jim Turner.

Sox Open Drills

Boston Red Sox—Team starts training at Pleasantville, N. J., today. After checking in last night Manager Joe Cronin learned that first baseman George Metkovich had agreed to terms.

Chicago White Sox—First hitting practice carded today at Terre Haute. Tony Cuccinello arrived, boosting squad to 17.

Philadelphia Phillies—With General Manager Herb Pennock declaring "We'll have a better club than we had last year" the Phils departed to open camp at Wilmington, Del.

Chicago Cubs—Manager Charley Grimm planned first intra-camp game today at French Lick with himself at first and Coach Roy Johnson, Red Smith and Milt Stock in the lineup.

Lisenbee Joins Reds

Cincinnati Reds—For the second straight day Reds announced signing of a 42-year-old pitcher. Yesterday it was Horace "Hod" Lisenbee who played with Syracuse last year.

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, March 14 (AP)—Major Edward Bowes, veteran broadcaster, who has been away from his CBS weekly program since December 14 to benefit his health, is returning Thursday night. However, the amateur series will not be immediately resumed.

The major is to act as host in the musical broadcast under the direction of Morton Gould which took over in the latter weeks of his absence. Gould's contract has about six more weeks to run. The concerts also have graduates of the amateur broadcasts as guests.

Ceilings On Movie Prices 'Not Needed'

Washington, March 14 (AP)—OPA Administrator Chester Bowles' surprise proposal for price ceilings on movie and other amusement tickets received a cautious Congressional reception today, mingled with considerable coolness.

Most members hesitated to express an opinion without hearing the evidence for ceilings, but the reaction generally was unfavorable among those who gave off-hand views.

Senator McFarland (D., Ariz.), a member of the Banking Committee now considering price control legislation, said he would have to be shown the "necessity for it."

"Generally speaking," he added to a reporter, "I am opposed to extension of price controls to new fields unless the absolute necessity for it is clear."

ALLEN TOWN 5 LACES TROJANS; FAVORITES WIN

By TOM SHRIVER
Harrisburg, March 14 (AP)—Favorites had little trouble winning last night in the opening regional games of the annual P.I.A.A. basketball tournament. One team moved directly into the eastern finals, and three others qualified for sectional semi-finals.

Allen town's lanky Canaries made it 26 wins in 27 starts by turning back Chambersburg, 58-32, as Coach Birney Crum made free use of substitutes throughout the game. Joe Skurla, a reserve forward, accounted for 15 points. The victory put the Lehigh county nine safely in the eastern finals.

Plymouth's undefeated Indians made it 24 straight by turning back unbeaten Shamokin, 60-42, on the Bloomsburg floor; Huntington, another unbeaten squad, defeated Somerset, 45-29; while Sharpville, the lone "dark horse" among the seven survivors, eliminated Bradford, 42-35.

The class A teams now rest until Saturday when three more games are listed, sending last night's winners against a trio of rivals that drew byes in the regional games.

Plymouth, District Two champions, face Radnor, District One "whiz kids," at Rockne Memorial hall, Allentown, for the right to meet Crum's Canaries next week.

Huntingdon takes its 26-game winning streak to McKeesport to meet Donora, considered by many the class of the west, while Sharpville will be close to home when the "dark horses" face Langley at Farrell.

Two class B games are on tonight's schedule with Montgomery, District Four, facing Dalton, the two-time champions of District Twelve. Winner of this game meets McAdoo at Hazleton in an eastern semi-final.

In the other contest Conneautville clashes with Otto Township in a western semi-final at Allegheny college, Meadville. The winner gets a full week's rest while Stonycreek township and Gallitzin are battling for other western final berth at Altoona on Friday.

FDR IN FAVOR OF BALL TILTS

Washington, March 14 (AP)—Baseball leaders today felt that President Roosevelt clouted a homer with the bases loaded to put their side well ahead in efforts to keep the sport alive this season.

But a dangerous hitter is coming up on the other side in the form of pending manpower legislation.

Mr. Roosevelt said at a news conference yesterday that he is all in favor of baseball carrying on.

His only qualification: As long as it does not require perfectly healthy people who could be doing more useful work.

Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators, speaking for baseball said: "We've always wanted our players to be examined and re-examined so there could be no doubt as to their right on the playing field."

Cal'bre Immaterial
A reporter asked the President if he thought it possible under the no-perfectly-healthy-people proviso for the leagues to operate this year. Why not? Mr. Roosevelt inquired.

The President added that he would go to see sandlot games himself and so would most people.

This was interpreted to mean that he "even" would attend sandlot games and that the war-imposed low caliber or organized baseball would not keep the fans away.

Mr. Roosevelt also said Griffith was quite right in telling reporters that he (the President) favors night baseball. He was one of the fathers of it, he added. Griffith gave the President his annual pass at the White House Monday.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, March 14 (AP)—The Pacific Northwest looks like the new gold coast for golf pros. Six tournaments are booked out there for the coming summer—each for a $10,000 purse. . . . And on the first day of the four-ball matches at Miami so many customers turned out that they ran out of tickets and had to send to town for the leftovers from last year's Miami open. . . . By limiting invitations to teams in nearby territory the Metropolitan Basketball Tournament committee reduced travel by more than 50 per cent as was required last year. . . . A feature of the Giants' Lakewood, N. J., training camp is an oversize juke box in what used to be John D. Rockefeller's music room.

THE LAST WORD

Frank Howard, Clemson grid coach, was chatting with an alumnus the other day when a Marine officer walked in and gave him a hearty greeting. . . . Frank finally had to admit he didn't recognize the visitor, who explained: "I'm your old Alabama roommate, John Cain." . . . When the discussion simmered down the alumnus asked Cain: "Tell me, Sugar, did Howard actually do all that good blocking he has told us about for 14 years?" . . . Cain, who was quite a halfback at "Bama," replied: "Those blocks Howard never made are the reason he didn't recognize me just now."

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES

Jack Matheson, the Detroit Lions' end, has set himself up in business in Kalamazoo, Mich., with a new recipe for the national dish—hamburger. . . . Bill Mokray, Boston Garden basketball maestro, checks in with the news that Dale White, of Irving, Ill., high school, scored 965 points in 41 game games. The kid rises at 6:30 a. m., milks nine cows and feeds 30 pigs before hiking to school. Does he carry books? . . . Gunder Haegg's objections to running on the boards apparently doesn't extend to dancing on them. And he ought to be pretty fair on smorgasboards, too. . . . Bill Mosten, winner of hockey's Lady Byng trophy, hasn't bought a hat in two seasons. The Blackhawks supply him when their players pull the three-goal "hat trick." . . . Look for announcement soon that Clem Crowe will coach football at Iowa—and Notre Dame will need a new basketball tutor.

By TED MEIER
New York, March 14 (AP)—Russ Christopher, the Richmond, Calif., tall righthander who is expected to be one of the best pitchers in the American Baseball League for the Philadelphia Athletics this season, has ended his holdout.

The 6:03 stringbean, winner of 14 games of the second division A's in 1944, agreed to terms yesterday after a telephone talk with his 82-year-old manager, Connie Mack, just back in Philadelphia from the Pacific coast.

Pittsburgh, March 14 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates head for spring training camp tomorrow with their best pennant chances since 1938, when an ill-starred homerun pitch to Gabby Hartnett of the Chicago Cubs, in the closing weeks of the campaign, cost the Bucs the flag.

Those signed include Pitchers Max Butcher, Fred Ostermueller, Xavier Rescigno, Elwin (Preacher) Roe and Ray Starr; Outfielders Johnny Barrett, Tommy O'Brien, Lloyd Waner and Frank Colman; Infielders Lee Handley, Frankie Gustine, Vic Barnhart, and Catcher Al Lopez.
